

Handel's Messiah

Howard Dyck
Artistic Director

Handel's Messiah, a timeless masterpiece, is usually heard in December, prior to Christmas, notwithstanding the fact that Handel intended it to be performed during the Easter season.

Nota Bene Players & Singers has been establishing its own tradition by reverting to the composer's original wishes. In March, during the Palm Sunday weekend, we mark the beginning of Holy Week with a performance of Messiah by a small ensemble, similar to what Handel himself utilized when the work premiered in Dublin in 1742. The solo arias will be sung by members of the professional NBPS chorus.

Artistic Director Howard Dyck conducts.
